FROM THE PRESIDENT AND CEO

Return on Investment = Impact

Do you know what an elevator speech is? It's a very short summary that people use to explain who you are, what you do, or what idea you're promoting – usually in 30-60 seconds, the length of a brief elevator ride. The idea is to quickly capture someone's interest and leave them wanting to know more (keep reading and save-the-date for Aug. 23!).

How does one translate impact into words? I've thought long and hard on what the Chattanooga Federation's elevator speech could be; something concise, clear, engaging, and purposeful.

My top ten Federation-isms:

- Heart of the local Jewish community
- Strengthen and support Jewish life in our community
- Creates connections and friendships
- Strengthen Jewish identity
- Helping and supporting those in need
- Transforms generosity into meaningful impact
- A bridge between people and purpose
- Turns shared values into collective action
- Supporting the community through the intangibles
- Builds a vibrant TODAY and for future generations

And then there's the "HOW":

- Cultural and educational programming
- Celebrations and commemorations
- Israel-centric programs (like the Shaliach)
- Community outreach and advocacy (like fighting antisemitism)
- Social Services – social worker, nurse, transportation, meals
- Aleph Bet preschool
- Teen programs through Jew Crew
- Family programming
- Affinity groups such as NextGen, Middle Chai and SAGE

Do you know how the Federation was able to react to the tragedies of Oct. 7 within hours of hearing about these events? It's because your Federation was active, strong and engaged with the community on Oct. 6. It was because of YOU, our annual donors and supporters who support the Federation every year.

Do you know how the Federation was able to react to the antisemitic letters to the editor back on Jan. 4, 2026? It's because we had relationships with the community, and we were already a strong and vibrant organization on Jan. 3 (again, because of YOUR annual support).

Who gets the call when there is an emergency in the community? Who convenes our Rabbis and leadership to bring our community closer together? Who is leading the charge in fighting antisemitism and creating safer spaces through security initiatives? Who is directly working with other cultural and faith communities to foster relationships? Who is providing our community with a social services safety net? Diverse programming for all ages? The answer to all of these questions – your Chattanooga Federation.

This summer you will start to see information about the Federation's annual campaign. The kickoff event will be a community lunch and celebration on Sunday, Aug. 23 at the JCC. We will be highlighting many impactful impactful Federation-isms. I encourage everyone to attend - children, families, adults, seniors. There will be something for everyone!

The Federation isn't a membership organization where you "buy" services for yourself. It's a community investment model. Your gift helps ensure that Jewish life, education, care for those in need, cultural programming, security, and future generations are supported—whether or not you personally use every program, or any program.

And, you may not directly use every service, or any service the Federation supports, but your financial generosity helps create the kind of Jewish community we all want to exist. The Return on Investment (ROI) is a stronger, more connected community that wouldn't exist without your collective support. In fact, the Federation works because you give not only for yourself, but for each other. At various times in life, different people benefit most. Most importantly, however, everyone benefits from having a vibrant, caring Jewish community.

When the annual campaign kicks-off in August, please consider making a meaningful financial gift. In so many ways the entire Jewish community says "thank you" for this vital support.

America the Beautiful

I've been thinking about what my grandparents would say about the 250th Anniversary of the United States.

Three of them came as child immigrants before 1900. All three of their families were looking for a better life and mostly were running from political prosecution. For example, my paternal great-grandfather fled from Bohemia where King Franz Joseph tried to force him into the military, with horrendous consequences if he didn't take a role. He lost everything, family, finances, and his career to come to the United States. It was during the time that Bohemia had been absorbed into the Austrian Hungary Empire, filled with great unrest. When he got to Cleveland, Ohio with his young family in tow, he started over and eventually became a policeman at Terminal Tower greeting incoming trains and shepherding other immigrants from eastern Europe to their appropriate ethnic neighborhoods in Cleveland. He was not selfish. He believed in freedom.

As many of you know, I live just outside of the Chattahoochee National Forest. I treasure the beauty that surrounds me and Chattanooga. I am a mountain, big water person. I need the beauty of our surroundings to center me, to keep me grounded.

Since we are celebrating the 250th anniversary of the United States, I wanted to create an exhibit that symbolized both the physical beauty of the land and the beauty of our ability to have freedom, especially freedom of speech. Where to start....from the source of the song.

Did you know the lyrics to the song America the Beautiful was from a poem written by Katherine Lee Bates in 1895, after her journey to the top of Pikes Peak? There is one part of the full poem that inspired my selections for this exhibit. The last lines of this stanza really spoke to me.

O beautiful for glory-tale
Of liberating strife
When once and twice
For man's avail
Men lavished precious life!
America! America!
God shed his grace on thee
Till selfish gain no longer stain
The banner of the free!

Curious as to what I selected? Come take a look beginning June 15. Better yet, come to the Sanford Winer Tribute Reception and Film on June 17. The opening film for the Chattanooga Jewish Film Series is The Ring. The Ring has won 12 awards from Festivals around the country and the world including the Philadelphia Israeli Film Festival, Flint Jewish Film Festival, Toronto Jewish Film Festival, and many more. Don't miss this free in-person screening!

What are the implications of the Trump administration's rethinking of the U.S. alliance system for regional and global security? Monday, July 13 - Ukraine and European Security

With reduced U.S. support for NATO and Ukraine, Europe faces strategic uncertainty. The Trump administration has signaled an intention to reduce its security role in Europe. What are America's stakes in NATO and Europe's strategic dilemmas, and how might Europe respond?

Time for a Budget Review

I'll start with the single most concerning topic we're all feeling: gas prices. There are many indicators we can watch to see what the market is doing: consumer sentiment, labor market, supply constraints...and one of my favorites, the Lipstick index: an economic theory suggesting that lipstick sales increase during economic downturns, as consumers substitute expensive luxury items for affordable indulgences. All things to keep an eye on, but let's focus on practical ways to navigate the financial stressors many of us are facing.

At the Jewish Federation, we offer budget reviews to anyone who is requesting financial assistance. People are often surprised when they see how their bills add up—seeing it on paper makes things clear. Michael, Annette, and the Finance Committee review the Federation's budget monthly to monitor the Federation's financial health. We do the same as a family; it's not my favorite task, but it's incredibly useful for understanding where money is going and whether there are better ways to use it.

As a famous financial guru explained, "A budget is telling your money where to go instead of wondering where it went."

I challenge you to look closely at your budget: list your income source(s), bills, groceries, gas, habits, and subscriptions...anything that you spend money on. And, are you saving or investing? Are you giving to the community? Are you spending more than you earn? If so, it may be time to scale back. As I always say, there are two ways to solve a money problem: spend less or earn more. If neither is currently possible, a trusted financial professional, family member, or friend can offer a helpful second set of eyes. I'm also happy to meet with you, or if you'd like a copy of my budget worksheet, I can email it to you!

In conclusion, if you look over your budget and realize you need some free or inexpensive activities, please make sure to check out all the things we have going on this summer at the Jewish Federation of Greater Chattanooga. Some of our popular free events: Chair Wellness, Coffee & Conversations, and Drive Chattanooga (New in June!). We also have many low-cost activities (Foreign Policy Supper Club, Lunch & Learn, and Grown Up Summer Camp), and if the cost is an issue, please let me know!

Meaningful Connections to Israel

Since Oct. 7th, even something as simple as traveling to and from Israel no longer feels easy. What used to be simple - booking a flight, planning a summer visit, and saying "see you soon" to family and friends, has become filled with uncertainty, anxiety, and emotional weight.

For many Israelis living abroad, summer is usually the season we look forward to most. It is the time to return home, reunite with family, hear Hebrew everywhere around us again, sit by the beach, and feel connected to the familiar rhythm of life in Israel. But this year, even the idea of getting on a plane feels different.

Flights are canceled or changed unexpectedly. Travel plans can shift overnight. Every goodbye at the airport feels heavier than before, and every arrival carries an emotional significance that is difficult to explain. There is always a lingering uncertainty in the background, a feeling many Israelis around the world have quietly learned to live with over the past months.

At the same time, leaving Israel has become emotional in a completely different way. Many people struggle with the feeling of physically leaving while loved ones remain behind. There is guilt, worry, and the constant desire to stay updated on everything happening back home. Even while far away, Israel never truly feels far from our minds.

As a Shlich, I have felt this deeply myself. Living abroad during such a complicated time creates a strange balance between two worlds. Part of your heart is here, building community and connections, while another part constantly remains in Israel with family, friends, memories, and concern for the people living through difficult realities every day.

And yet, despite the challenges, there is also something incredibly powerful about the connection people continue to feel toward Israel. Even with uncertainty, people still try to visit family, celebrate holidays together, support one another, and maintain that connection to home. In many ways, the difficulty of traveling has only highlighted how meaningful those connections truly are.

Yet, despite all of that, I am truly looking forward to visiting home. Seeing my family and friends again, returning to some of my favorite places like the beach and the valley, and of course, eating as much good food as possible. These visits give me, and many other Shlichim, the opportunity to recharge after a busy and meaningful year, reconnect with home, and come back with renewed energy, inspiration, and new ideas to share with the community.

But before I head back to Israel, the summer here is already full of exciting adventures. It begins with Summer Camp in Michigan, followed by different programs and events here in the community throughout the summer. And maybe the part I am most excited about - my parents will be coming to visit me in Chattanooga in July. I cannot wait!

As this season comes to an end and summer begins, I also want to take a moment to thank everyone who took part in the Flowers of Hope project, as well as all of the programs and events we shared throughout the year. Seeing so many members of the community come together through art, conversations, celebrations, learning, and shared experiences has been incredibly meaningful to me. Every event, workshop, holiday gathering, and community moment reminded me how special this community truly is.

The Flowers of Hope project holds a very special meaningful a very meaningful place in my heart. Every flower carried a story, a memory, a prayer, or a message of hope, and together they became something much larger than an art piece - they became a reflection of unity, resilience, and connection. Being able to create and experience these moments together has been one of the most meaningful parts of my year as a Shlich, and I am incredibly grateful for each and every one of you.

MEN'S NIGHT PROGRAM – Next Program is August 27th

April's Men's Night Program included a delicious dinner and an excellent speaker, Scott Greenman, the Assistant Basketball Coach at UTC and a member of our community. We learned about the basketball program and how it has changed in the four years that Scott has been on the coaching staff. In particular we learned about the relatively new NIL (Name, Image, and Likeness) program where collegiate athletes are compensated. This causes a lot of turnover in the roster as athletes change schools frequently to earn more. We enjoyed meeting and learning from Scott.

Thank you to our co-chairs (and co-chefs), Andy Hodes and Joel Itskowitz, as well as our always-there volunteer, Roy Rosenfeld. Thank you also to Ann Treadwell and Alice Morgan for making this happen as well as Tasha and Dana who helped in the kitchen and left it clean enough so Alice will let us come back in August. And thank you to Ernest Crawl for keeping us safe during the program.

Our next program will be on Thursday, Aug. 27 at 6:00 p.m. at the Federation. Grilled Shish-Kebabs are on the menu along with fellowship and a speaker that will be announced as soon as he is confirmed. As always we promise you will not leave hungry!

CHATTANOOGA JEWISH ARCHIVES

The Tennessee Holocaust Commission recently requested information about our Jewish community from 1900 - 1945 for a project they are doing. The Shofar is reprinting excerpts from the document sent by the Archives committee in this and previous issues. My thanks go to Wes Hasden and Dr. Max Brenner for their contributions to this brief history. Karen Diamond, chair, Chattanooga Jewish Archives

YMHA, JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER, FEDERATION AND 2 FAMILIES: The YMHA, the Young Men's Hebrew Association, was established in the early 20th century to give the Jewish community the same opportunities as the Christian YMCA. It was a thriving center of Jewish activity, providing space and activities for all ages. Sports teams competed in local leagues. Countless pinochle, gin, and poker games were played; and social activities for teenagers, women, and men provided entertainment, especially since Chattanooga's other social clubs and country clubs excluded Jewish members. The YMHA moved from the downtown location of 4th Street and Georgia Avenue after its location was purchased for road construction coming off the Veteran's Bridge.

A new building was built in the suburb of Brainerd in 1944 and named The Chattanooga Jewish Community Center. The move from downtown paralleled the move by many members of the Jewish community to the suburbs as their incomes rose and the city expanded. The JCC replicated many of the activities of the YMHA, such as swim, bowling, tennis, and basketball teams which competed in community leagues for many years. It was the home for social gatherings, events, meetings, and activities of the Jewish community.

In 1938, Harry Miller, a prominent Jewish citizen, spearheaded the formation of the Chicago Jewish Welfare Federation. This eventually evolved into The Jewish Federation of Greater Chattanooga.

A family with a huge impact on Chattanooga has been the Siskin family. The patriarch, Robert Siskin, arrived in Chattanooga just before 1900. He and a partner established a scrap iron and steel business. His two sons, Mose and Garrison, greatly expanded Siskin Steel and led it for many years until their son-in-law Merv Pregulman succeeded them. The entire family's philanthropy was legendary. The brothers founded the Siskin Rehabilitation Hospital which grew to become a world-renowned center for rehabilitation. They were also interested in children with physical and mental disabilities and established the Siskin Children's Institute, which has become a national leader in its field. It's been said that one out of every four Chattanooga families has been touched in some way by the Siskin brothers' benevolence. The brothers were also great benefactors of B'nai Zion and the Jewish Federation.

Another pillar of Chattanooga's Jewish community is the Lebovitz family. Mose Lebovitz was born in Chattanooga in 1905. He attended public schools and was a graduate of the University of Chattanooga where he played varsity basketball. His first business venture was Independent Theaters. He owned movie theaters for both blacks and whites throughout the Tri-State region. Lebovitz was on the cusp of the development of shopping centers. With his son Charles and Jay Solomon, he founded Independent Enterprises. (Solomon later served as Jimmy Carter's head of the GSA during his Presidency.) In the 1960s, Charles took over the company and renamed it CBL & Associates. The company developed properties throughout the country, including Chattanooga's 3 largest malls [Eastgate, Northgate and Hamilton Place.] CBL became one of the largest mall property owners in the United States.

Your Archives Committee hopes you have enjoyed reading a little about our Jewish community. Chattanooga is an amazing city and Jews have played an important part in its evolution. Historian Will Durant said, "Most of us spend too much time on the last 24 hours and too little on the last 3,000 years."

ALEPH BET CHILDREN'S CENTER

Ayla Smith alephbet@jewishchattanooga.org • (423) 893-5486

Aleph Bet provides an educational, interactive and developmentally appropriate preschool program enriched by Jewish traditions and values.

WELCOME NEW DIRECTOR!

We are excited to welcome Ayla Smith as the new Aleph Bet Director. Ayla joined the team on May 20 and has already hit the ground running! Ayla was born and raised in Atlanta, Georgia, and moved to North Georgia with her family in 2022. She recently married (February 2026) and bought a home in Ringgold. She is very excited about this new chapter in her life.

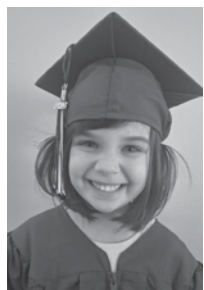

Ayla is the proud mom of 4 kids, 3 girls and 1 boy, and also has 2 dogs who keep the house busy and fun. In her free time, Ayla loves reading, watching movies with her husband, spending quality time with the kids, and taking any opportunity to visit the beach.

Ayla began working in childcare in 2009, and after stepping away in 2022 to focus on motherhood, she is eager and excited to return to a field that has always been close to her heart. Ayla spent 7 years as a lead teacher and 4 additional years as an early childhood assistant director. She loves building relationships with children and families and helping create an environment where children feel safe, loved, and excited to learn. Ayla says, "I'm so grateful for the opportunity to join the Aleph Bet community, and I'm looking forward to getting to know everyone!" Please stop by Aleph Bet this summer to welcome Ayla to the Aleph Bet family.

The Jewish Federation of Greater Chattanooga is one of 50 sites in Chattanooga to participate in the America 250 Liberty Bell project. Siskin Steel designed, fabricated, and donated 50 replicas of the Liberty Bell to be displayed in Hamilton County. A community wide scavenger hunt is being designed to encourage residents to get to know their neighbors by visiting each of the bells. Decorations of the bell are being led by Bonnie Stolloff.

THANK YOU LEAH

Special "thank you" to Leah Kaplan for her jump starting and grounding our Engagement Manager position this past year. Leah is leaving the Federation and pursuing other opportunities. Leah was the recipient of the Jewish Federation's Catalyst Fellowship Grant which gave us the chance to develop community volunteer opportunities both through and outside the Jewish community. Many volunteers took part in the Snack Pack project at East Brainerd Church of Christ as well as two "meal cooking days", one on Easter Sunday and a second at the Ronald McDonald House. Leah also worked with the Jew Crew and Middle Chai as well as helped create our SAGE affinity group with volunteers Marilyn Goler and Richard Zachary. Leah also helped develop several 5th Friday opportunities for the community. We are deeply appreciative for Leah's work and wish her only the best in her endeavors.

THANK YOU JENNIFER

It has been an absolute honor to work with Jennifer Waxenberg as the Federation's Nurse these past 2 years. Jennifer added her extensive RN knowledge to the programs and services the Federation provided including brain, memory, and healthy lifestyle events. She has been an incredible teammate to the entire staff, especially with our Director of Social Services, Lorri Lipski. Jennifer has been laser focused on supporting and advocating for our community members – making friendly calls and visiting community members wherever they may be. So many people have reaped the benefits of Jennifer being with the Federation. Although sad to see her leave, we are equally grateful for the opportunity to have worked with Jennifer these past almost two years and wish her only the best as her journey continues. She will be missed!

Mizpah Social Action: Community Spotlight Series Shabbat with Purpose

Mizpah Social Action is shining a spotlight on local grassroots efforts that address critical issues impacting our communities. Join us for a series designed to raise awareness, foster meaningful discussions, and inspire action. Together, we can engage in the essential work of Tikkun Olam—repairing the world—by learning from local efforts to explore ways to create lasting change.

Date: June 12, 2026 - 6:00 PM
Speaker: Lupin Kaplan and Ann Law
Title: Becoming Lupin
Host: Bonnie Stolfow will host with Marcus Ellsworth preparing the Oneg

Becoming Lupin is a moving collaboration between Lupin Kaplan and Ann Law exploring love, adoption, identity, and family through the relationship between a trans man and his mother. Honest and deeply human, it resonates with the power of choosing connection and understanding. Included are special remarks on the legacy of Barking Legs.

We invite you to be part of these critical conversations as we work together to support community resilience as part of our Shabbat worship.

Chabad is a philosophy, a movement, and an organization.

Chabad is an educational organization dedicated to helping every Jew, regardless of background, affiliation, or personal level of observance, to increase their level of Jewish knowledge, enthusiasm, and commitment.

Time flies when you are having fun — and Chabad Hebrew School 2025/2026 was truly a year to remember!

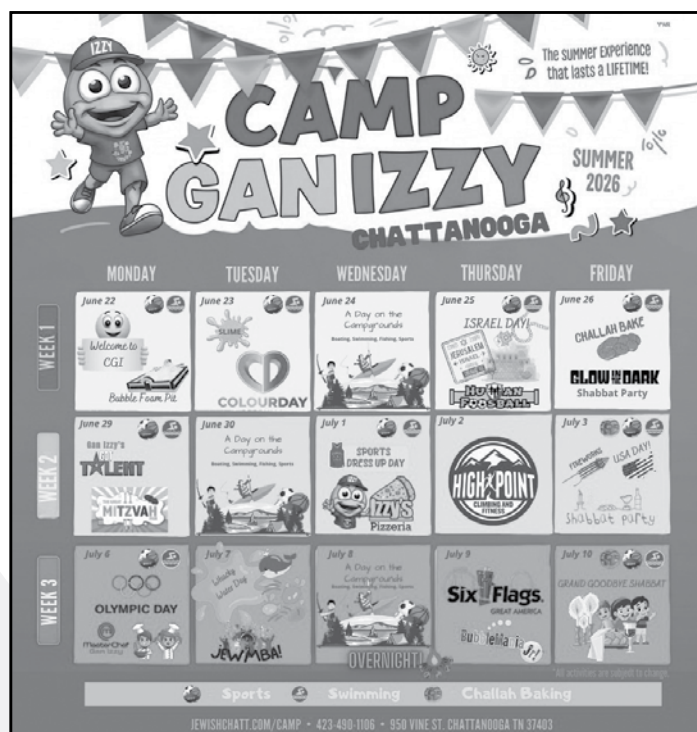

This year, our students journeyed through two incredible programs: Torah Treasures and Israel Quest, which brought Judaism to life in the most exciting and meaningful way. From hands-on activities and creative challenges to interactive games and unforgettable projects, our students didn't just learn about Judaism — they experienced it!

Whether exploring the treasures of the Torah, traveling through the wonders of Israel, competing in Kahoot challenges, building giant mitzvah projects, creating beautiful crafts, and diving into exciting adventures like Jewish Roblox and Tour VR, every week at CHS was filled with joy, friendship, and Jewish pride.

Our students also made tremendous progress in Hebrew reading through our top-of-the-line Aleph Champ program. They gained confidence, skills, and a true love for learning. Most importantly, they discovered that being Jewish is something exciting, meaningful, and fun.

A huge thank you to our amazing teachers, volunteers, and families who made this year so special. And to our wonderful students — mazal tov on an incredible year!

Registration for Chabad Hebrew School 2026/2027 is opening soon! We can't wait for another year filled with learning, laughter, friendship, and Jewish memories that last a lifetime. Join the CHS family and come see why Hebrew School is the best part of the week!

Camp Gan Izzy is almost here and we truly can't wait for another unforgettable summer! From the most amazing counselors and nonstop fun to incredible friendships and Jewish pride, our camp is packed with energy, warmth, and memories that last all year long. If you haven't signed up yet, now's the time — don't miss the chance to give your child the best summer ever!

Hadassah enhances the health and lives of people in Israel, the United States and worldwide. By connecting and empowering Jewish women to effect change, we are the women who do. Now, and always, we are Hadassah. Be proud of who you are, Hadassah women.

SWEET PARTY / SWEET YEAR

Email invitations will go out during the summer as Randi Weiss designs a project for Hadassah Hospital patients.

5787

As 5787 approaches, Hadassah will send out the High Holiday Greeting card information to welcome in the New Year. Donors will receive instructions for how they want their names to be listed. Thank you to Susan Leininger and Kathy Kessler who are helping with this project.
